Description

With Trading Floor Solutions from WEY, business managers, traders and IT managers obtain cost-effective, secure and efficient working environments.

WEY specialises in the transmission, control and display of sources and applications in real-time. This enables shared access to sources (e.g. market data systems) and facilitates a faster return on investment.

The solutions are characterised by their intuitive usability and ergonomics.

Traders benefit from high-performance workplaces and enjoy a pleasant working environment with considerably less heat and noise.

Due to the modularity of the architecture, WEY Solutions can easily be expanded. This has a positive impact on Capex costs and on retaining the long-term value of your investment. System changes and maintenance can be executed at any time and without service interruptions.

WEY guarantees the highest levels of availability and reliability. Solutions are platform independent and require neither software nor driver installations.

Multifunctional Keyboards

WEY Multifunctional Keyboards enhance effectiveness in many ways. Even complex systems can be operated with a single keyboard and mouse. The ergonomic user interface provides clarity and efficiency and reduces errors to a minimum.

The functionality and adaptability of the keyboards is virtually unlimited. They are modular, expandable and robust. They can be programmed and designed to meet your specific needs. Multiple platforms (e.g. Dealing 3000, EBS, Bloomberg) are supported with the addition of customised keypads and modules.

The connection of keyboards enables shared use of common sources.

Remote Solutions

With KVM Extenders from WEY you can easily remote workstations into a protected system room. Both the trading floor and the system room can be cooled more efficiently and traders benefit from a reduction of heat and noise emissions at the workplace. The transmission of KVM and data signals occurs over fibre optics (SM/MM) or twisted pair (UTP/STP) cable.

WEY Distribution Platform

The WEY Distribution Platform is a full matrix switch solution. KVM signals are switched and distributed to the workplace without any loss of quality. This enables secure real-time access to your sources and brilliant picture quality. A variety of sharing and pooling options offers real means to significantly and permanently reduce operational costs.

Free Seating

Regardless of the size of your trading floor, you can enjoy the ultimate flexibility and efficiency of Free Seating. All sources can be distributed to any desk and are immediately available. The solution can be adapted to any number of users with a variety of access rights (e.g. dedicated, shared or view-only access). System changes and maintenance have never been easier!
